Cemetery Coalition Statewide Conference on April 29

The Coalition to Protect Maryland Burial Sites is pleased to announce our 26th annual Meeting and state-wide Conference in Lothian, in beautiful southern Anne Arundel County, on Saturday, April 29, 2017. The day – from 9 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. -- is planned to be educational, fun, and full of collegiality!

The event will be held at St. James Parish Episcopal Church and Cemetery, one of Maryland's original parishes. The churchyard was laid out in 1696, with oldest burials dating from the late 17th and early 18th centuries, and the current church was built in 1765.

Conference sessions include a joint presentation titled "Reclaiming the Forgotten in Institutional Cemeteries" by Dennis Montagna (Director, Monument Research & Preservation Program in the National Park Service, Northeast Region) and Tina Simmons (Cemetery Inscription Chair for Anne Arundel Genealogical Society) and "What is Happening Now in Cemetery Conservation" by Robert Mosko of Mosko Cemetery Monument Services. Mr. Mosko will speak on conservation by the book, what to expect from a cemetery conservator, volunteer roles, and the latest in technology: drones, GPR, and Social Media.

There will be opportunities to talk with others who care about historic cemeteries, and 2017 Periwinkle Awards will be presented to deserving volunteers and projects. A brief business meeting will elect 2017-19 members of the Board of Directors, and hear committee reports and announcements about the Six to Fix partnership with Preservation Maryland, the Trader Foundation, and other initiatives. Continuing CPMBS traditions, expect a bountiful silent auction, interesting gift shop, delicious food, and a unique tombstone dessert.

Our popular Open Forum encourages attendees to raise concerns, describe problems, suggest strategies, and share the highs and lows of preserving historic burial grounds. All topics are welcome! Also, Gene Meyer, author of A Pigeon Named Pete, will sign copies of his book, with all proceeds to CPMBS on this day.

After lunch, we will walk around the cemetery to note gravestone styles and symbolism, discuss conservation issues and solutions, and visit the oldest dated gravestone in Maryland. Bring your questions and cameras. The day ends about 3:30 p.m.

Registration, now open, can be conducted via PayPal on www.cpmbs.org or by mail using the form on the insert page.

St. James is located about 20 minutes south of Annapolis, and about one hour from the Baltimore and Capital Beltways. Ample free parking is on site.

Driving directions and a list of nearby accommodations can be found on www.cpmbs.org Other attractions in the area: Historic Annapolis, historic Galesville with its Quaker Burying Grounds, and more local cemeteries.

The Board met on NOVEMBER 4, 2016, at the Historic Takoma Building in Takoma Park and on FEBRUARY 4, 2017, at Savage Library in Laurel. Quorums and guests were present at both meetings. Draft minutes were approved and Treasurer's Reports accepted.

The newly designed and updated Coalition website is up and running. Consultant Teresa Hopkins transferred webmaster duties to Board member Glenn Wallace, who continues to add material and depth. The Board agreed to place a downloadable copy of the Coalition Guide to Burial Site Stewardship on the website and also to sell hard copies. A committee was formed to update the document.

Trader Foundation update: The new 501c3 non-profit announced its first grant cycle and received multiple applications. In February, the foundation's Board of Directors approved $3,000 in grant awards to three worthy applicants. Tax-deductible donations can be made through www.cpmbs.org

Preservation Maryland Six to Fix project: The CPMBS Board approved a work program that outlines details of our partnership with Preservation Maryland. Earliest items will be to record a Podcast, select a joint clean-up project, and co-sponsor a session at the Montgomery County History Conference.

CPMBS Annual Meeting: Planning commenced for the 2017 annual meeting and statewide conference, to be held in Anne Arundel County at the end of April. Presenters have been selected and plans are progressing for the cemetery visit, silent auction, meals, and other details.

Outreach efforts: Committee chair Dave Mills reported on his investigation of two Hambleton family cemeteries in Talbot County that are endangered. Guest Dennis Green described a difficult situation at the Aspin Hill Pet Cemetery in Montgomery County.

2017 Maryland legislation: The Board agreed on the prudence of creating partnerships with other cemetery advocates to develop strategies and support certain bills that have been introduced in the current General Assembly session.

Respectfully submitted,
Jack Carson, secretary

- Davis Burial Place at the VFW (Howard Co.) for tree work, sign, fencing
- Magruder Family Cemetery (Prince George's) for site clearance and clean-up

Submission deadlines are January 1 and July 1 of each year.

The Trader Foundation invites applications for grants up to $2,000. The project or program must benefit a specific burial ground in Maryland, and Trader funds must be matched by the grantee. Examples of eligible projects include rescue of an endangered site, gravestone conservation or restoration, documentation, protection of burial site from desecration by nature or by man, cemetery clean-up, and planning for restoration.

To sustain this program, the Foundation welcomes donations and bequests. Contributions to the Trader Foundation are tax deductible. Send donations to Dave Mills, Treasurer, 210 South Walnut Street, Milford, DE 19963-1958.

Six to Fix: Preservation Maryland & Coalition Partnership

Our Coalition is proud to partner with Preservation Maryland this year to improve the plight of historic cemeteries in our state. A protector of Maryland places since 1931, PM initiated this innovative program in 2015 to help provide real solutions to big preservation challenges. The partners plan to work closely from February through October 2017 on key education and outreach efforts and to make a positive lasting impact.

Six to Fix priorities are short, mid, and long term. A recent history conference session was well received, and a PreserveCast podcast has been — and a workshop at the April conference will be — recorded. Existing GIS databases will be strengthened, as will County pages on the Coalition website and the existing Guide. Specialized practitioners will be included in PM's forthcoming contractor's directory, legislation explored, a clean-up day scheduled in October, blog posts written, presentations made, ideas to reach non-regulated burial grounds considered, and more pro-active information disseminated to the greater community about historic cemetery protection, maintenance, and repair.

CPMBS views this partnership with PM as a time for owners, caretakers, and advocates of historic cemeteries to take giant steps forward. We hope Six-to-Fix will remind Marylanders of forgotten local burial sites, and spur them to action. This is an opportunity for the Coalition to broadcast its mission and activities in the larger community, as well as to integrate cemeteries into Maryland's preservation movement as historic resources and land held in the public trust.

2017 Annual CPMBS Meeting

CPMBS by-laws require the corporation to hold an annual meeting, with reports to the membership, election of a governing body, and the conduct of other business as needed. In 2017, the Board proposes to change the By-Laws (Article III Meetings) to remove the requirement for a spring quarterly board meeting, as this often sets up a scheduling conflict with the annual meeting. Members will vote on April 29.
